RESOLUTIONS

Adopted by Police Department—Card To the Public.

The following resolution was passed by the members of the Police Department at a meeting on Sunday afternoon:

Resolved by the undersigned members of the Police Department of the City of Akron, that owing to rumored misunderstandings between the Firemen and some of the advertisers and projectors and agents soliciting for the souvenir and history of the Police and Fire Departments of this city, now ready for publication, that we hereby agree that the Fire Department shall share equally in all the benefits and profits that may be realized from the publication of said book, being satisfied that the work has gone too far to now be stopped without serious damages to innocent parties.

In addition the police have issued the following card:

"The members of the police department further say that they went into this arrangement in good faith, believing that the matter was fully understood by both departments, and that so far as they are concerned, they are willing the firemen shall have half of it they so understood it, or they will change and take the firemen's side of the contract, or if this is not satisfactory the firemen can have it all. The book originated with the fire department, not with them, but they will do all in their power to help it along. It would be a shame to stop it at this stage."

THREW UP

Contract For Carrying Mail to East Akron.

Wright Found That Pay Was Not Large Enough For Work.

The contract of carrying the mail between the depot and the East Akron station was awarded to J. A. Craft of Louisville, Ky., last November. He was to receive $1212 for doing the work and was to commence July 1, 1899.

Mr. Craft sub-let the contract to C. H. Wright of Wilberforce, O. What price per year Mr. Wright was to receive is not known definitely, but it is said that his chances for profit are very slim.

Four round trips are to be made daily, and the wear and tear to horses and vehicles is quite an item in the expense account. The price of the original contract is considered very low. A gentleman who had carefully estimated the cost of doing the work said to a DEMOCRAT reporter Tuesday that "$2,800 wouldn't be a cent too much for performing the duties involved in the contract."

Mr. Wright started to drive to Akron Sunday. Coming to Barberton he stopped there over night. That night one of his horses died. The gentleman seemed to regard that as an omen of ill luck and notified the contractor Monday that he would not take charge of the work.

The Dickson Transfer company has been carrying the mail on the route in question since July 1, and it is thought the company will be continued in the service.

MAGNETIC MARVELS

Are Daily Being Accomplished at the Hotel Buchtel

By the Boy Phenomenon, Who Has Again Been Compelled to Extend His Stay Two Weeks Longer.

The wonderful and beneficial advance in treating chronic diseases by the wonderful power of vital magnetism has carried joy and gladness to the hearts and homes of thousands of suffering people who could nowhere else or by any other method find relief. No power given to man is so little understood or so beneficial to the human family as the magnetic power to cure disease. Cases of years' standing, which have been pronounced incurable, are daily being restored to health by this mysterious agent. Many of the worst cases cured without medicine simply by applying the hands to the afflicted parts and driving from the human frame by means of this great magnetic power the pain and suffering of years.

One of the many phenomenal cures performed since his advent in this city is that of Mrs. Capt. Henry Rosier, of East Akron. While the rank and file three weeks ago, she today is a firm believer in the power of magnetism. For ten years she suffered with chronic ovarian trouble, stomach disorder and spinal weakness, which caused incipient locomotor ataxia, so that it was with the greatest exertion she could stand the drive in her carriage to the Buchtel hotel, and then had to be carried from her carriage to the treatment rooms. She was almost on the brink of the grave, without hope and fast failing. Magnetism worked wonders in her case, in three treatments she was able to walk up and down stairs without assistance. The glow of health is fast returning to her cheeks and she has gained nine pounds in two weeks. Hope has returned, and life once more is living. Words cannot express her or her husband's gratitude for her marvelous restoration.

Such are only a sample of the cures every day performed at the Buchtel hotel. It is because the public have learned the cures are permanent, that he has been compelled to extend his visit in Akron two weeks longer, but no new cases will be taken after Wednesday noon, July 12, the ensuing time being devoted to treating those who go under treatment in the meantime.

Office hours at Buchtel hotel, daily except Sunday, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

PAID WITH A SNUB.

A Case of Badly Misplaced Civility by the Younger Woman.

If anything rolls a woman, it is to have some younger woman get up and offer her a seat in a street car. This misplaced civility infers that the elder woman is to be considered on account of her age, when, in fact, there is little difference in years between the two.

I witnessed a droll bit of comedy the other day in a Brookline electric that makes me smile every time I think of it. The car was full, with several passengers standing, when in bounced a stout, well preserved person, with white hair beautifully pompadoured. She was dressed in deep mourning, but a bunch of violets in the front of the coat gave a touch of "mitigation" to her grief, which was quite borne out by a merriment lurking in her eyes and looked out of the window. Then suddenly a young person sitting near, observing perhaps that no man in the car intended to offer his seat, rose and leaning forward touched the other on the arm, saying:

"Won't you have my seat?"

"Are you going to get out?" asked the staid one.

"No, ma'am," replied this tactless creature, "but you are older than I, and—"

"Thank you. When I am too old to stand up, I shall not enter a public conveyance."

That was all. The junior woman slunk back into the seat, and some of the passengers tittered. — Cincinnati Enquirer.

A $1,000,000 BEDROOM.

Gorgeous Sleeping Apartment of Ludwig II, the Mad King.

"Half way between Munich and Salzburg is the third castle—Herrenchiemsee—built by Ludwig II," writes Professor J. H. Gore in the July Ladies' Home Journal. "This great structure is incomplete, fortunately for already overtaxed Bavaria, for no one could surmise what its cost would have been. One room alone—the renowned bedroom—could not be duplicated for less than a million dollars."

"The vaulted ceiling is one great allegorical painting, the rounded cornice is covered with a score of richly framed mural paintings, the walls are panels of hammered gold of intricate designs, and even the floor is of a marvelous pattern. The only suggestion of the purpose of this wonderful room is the sixty thousand dollar bed with its canopy more magnificent than any that covers a royal throne."

"In the gorgeous dining room he had erected a disappearing table, which dropped through the floor when a course was finished, and in its place came up another set and served. He desired this so that servants would be unnecessary in the room and the most secret state matters could be discussed in safety."

"Many people sought in vain to see the famous room at Herrenchiemsee. Once an actress pleased Ludwig so much by her recitation that she thought it an opportune moment to request permission to see his 'most poetic bedroom.' She was coolly dismissed for her effrontery, and the servants were ordered to fumigate the room in which she had been received."

We are making a new record for low prices for reliable

Men's, Boys', Children's Clothing

Here, then, is GOOD clothing, to be had while it lasts for one-half what it is worth and one-half what it was selling for before our stock-taking.

It must go now, because the season is pretty well along, and to carry over a stock like this would mean a good deal of money tied up for a season, and a good deal of money lost in simple depreciation. We also put on sale our entire line of
